Panels that will take place throughout the day will relate to the economic crisis, to investment strategies and to acquisition policies in view of and following the recession, and will raise questions such as: How does one finalize Merger and Acquisition transactions during a time of crisis? How does one raise funds during and after a crisis? What is the best way to raise funds in Europe? Additional topics will be discussed at the conference, across industries such as the financing of innovative Medical technology projects, Renewable energy projects, and the effect of the economic recession and global warming. Furthermore, a panel of elevator pitches will take place. Companies will be allocated one minute only to showcase their activities and products to potential investors.

To date, a long list of senior speakers from Europe and Israel will participate in the conference, including: Michel Cicurel, Chairman of LCF Rothschild; Eli Hurwitz, Chairman of Teva; Henri Proglio, Chairman of Veolia; Roland Kent, Vice President of NYSE Euronext; Dr. Georg Schwegler, CEO of T-Venture Holding; Marc Princen, President EEMEA of Merck&Co;
